FLASH OF THE CATHODE RAY

Per F Dahl

IOP

The book cover features a dark, atmospheric illustration of a cathode ray tube experiment. A bright, glowing blue and green light emanates from a central point, representing the cathode rays. The background is a deep purple and black, with intricate, glowing white and blue patterns that resemble a complex scientific diagram or a stylized representation of the atomic structure. A prominent yellow circular seal with a scalloped edge is positioned in the lower center of the illustration. The overall aesthetic is scientific and historical, reflecting the book's subject matter.
