German Idea:

The German Idea of Militarism Nicholas Stargardt, 1994-03-17 This 1994 book examines the development of the modern idea of militarism from its inception in the 1860s until the outbreak of World War I Often regarded as the archetypal militarist state imperial Germany in fact witnessed a major controversy over the issue which became a touchstone of political opposition Issues like the arms race and the military industrial complex displaced more traditional concerns about authoritarian rule and militarism gradually acquired its modern meaning The book is part of a wider discovery by historians of the way political identities and ideas intermeshed contributing to the rise of civil society and new types of politics in modern Europe The political history of the main protagonist of anti militarism German social democracy is examined as Nicholas Stargardt reveals the lasting influence of older radical traditions and reappraises the role played by its espousal of Marxism

German Ideas From The Mid 1920s, Early 1930s & Secretly During WW2 For A Proposed Space Program, 2014-02-18 Early German rocketeers from the mid 1920s and throughout the 1930s include such talents as Hermann Oberth Johannes Winkler Max Valier Wernher von Braun orbiting space wheel designer Hermann Potocnik and others In the early 1920s little rocket societies sprang up all over Germany to promote the spirit of adventure of rocket travel What of all these men mentioned and numerous other rocketeers interested in space travel when the Nazis came into power in 1933 It didn't end and these men remained interested and fascinated and their dreams of space Although the Nazi Party put a stop to all public rocket demonstrations and any talk of space travel under penalty of prison and or death attached are images of what these men were privately thinking Absolute fantasy in the late 1920s and 1930s here are images of what they were thinking Thanks to Mario Merino for the computer generated digital images Enjoy British Images of Germany R.

Scully, 2012-10-30 British Images of Germany is the first full length cultural history of Britain's relationship with Germany in the key period leading up to the First World War Richard Scully reassesses what is imagined to be a fraught relationship illuminating the sense of kinship Britons felt for Germany even in times of diplomatic tension

A History of Military Thought Azar Gat, 2001 From the ideas of Clausewitz to contemporary doctrines of containment and cold war this is a definitive history of modern military thought A one volume collection of Azar Gat's classic trilogy it explores conceptions of war strategy and military theory and relates them to their cultural and historical contexts The Ideological Origins of Nazi

Imperialism Woodruff D. Smith, 1989-02-09 This study traces the evolution of imperialist ideology in Germany from Bismarck in the mid 19th century through Hitler and the Third Reich Although much has been written about the virulently racist and anti communist ideologies of the Nazi party this is the first book to treat Nazi imperialism as a separate ideology and set it within a sturdy theoretical framework Smith contends that Nazi imperialism represented the last ambitious attempt to integrate two century old ideologies the elite pro industrial Weltpolitik and the popular based pro agrarian Lebensraum into a single system In fact Smith argues that it was largely the way in which the Nazis attempted to reconcile these contradictory ideologies that explains Germany's disastrous policies during World War II. This wide-ranging study also contributes to the debates over several other aspects of German history including German military aims in World War II, the continuity or discontinuity of German policy from Bismarck to Hitler and the relation between ideology and social political life. Politics and the Sciences of Culture in Germany, 1840-1920 Woodruff D. Smith, 1991. Examining the ways in which politics and ideology stimulate and shape changes in human science, this book focuses on the cultural sciences in nineteenth and early twentieth century Germany. The book argues that many of the most important theoretical directions in German cultural science had their origins in a process by which a general pattern of social scientific thinking, one that was closely connected to political liberalism and dominant in Germany and elsewhere before the mid-nineteenth century, fragmented in the face of the political troubles of German liberalism after that time. Some liberal social scientists who wanted to repair both liberalism and the liberal theoretical pattern, and others who wanted to replace them with something more conservative, turned to the concept of culture as the focus of their intellectual endeavors. Later generations of intellectuals repeated the process, motivated in large part by the experiences of liberalism as a political movement in the German Empire. Within this framework, the book discusses the formation of diffusionism in German anthropology, Friedrich Ratzel's theory of Lebensraum, folk psychology, historical economics, and cultural history. It also relates these developments to German imperialism, the rise of radical nationalism, and the upheaval in German social science at the turn of the century. Theorizing Teaching and Learning in Asia and Europe John Chi-Kin Lee, Kerry J. Kennedy, 2017-03-27. There has been much debate in recent times between the Anglo-American tradition of curriculum studies and the Continental and North European tradition of didactics. Didaktik. As important as such debate has been, this book seeks to add new voices to the debate, representing ideas and traditions from a different part of the world. The focus is on Chinese curriculum thinking that has passed through a number of stages and currently represents a blend of some aspects of the American tradition and Chinese cultural traditions. How does Chinese thinking about curriculum teaching and learning resonate with European didactic traditions, and what are the implications for theorizing an expanded field of curriculum studies? This book deliberately transcends borders and cultures to explore new territory, to provide a platform for open dialogue, and to open up new areas of investigation. Chapters include: Curriculum Reform and Research in China: A Social Historical Perspective; What Mathematics Did Teachers Learn: Comparison of the School and the Pre-Service Teacher; Mathematics Curricula in Germany and Taiwan; Living in Parallel Worlds: A Transatlantic Dialogue between General Didactics and Instructional Design. A War-time Journal, Germany 1914 and German Travel Notes Lady Harriet Julia Campbell Jephson, 1915. Deutsch-amerikanische Geschichtsblätter, 1922.
