The EU under Strain? Mechthild Roos, Daniel Schade, 2023-06-06 When EU member states signed the Treaty of Lisbon in 2007 they did not anticipate the manifold crises in store for them over the following years Instead of the intended consolidation of a Union which had just gone through its most profound modernisation and biggest round of enlargements the EU has since then had to weather a wide range of political economic social legal health and even military crises with major repercussions within and beyond its own territory Indeed this time of polycrisis has induced change on many levels Across the continent and its many fora of European supra trans and international collaboration established institutions rule systems and normative frameworks have been put into question and power balances have been shifting Against this background actors from social political economic and cultural life have sought new ways to overcome the manifold pressing problems of their time be it through intensified collaboration or attempts to increasingly resolve issues at the national level This volume offers a compilation of case studies on EU crisis responses covering the most impactful of the various crises the EU has had to face in recent years It provides theoretical and conceptual guidelines for the study of political actors responses to crisis at all levels of the EU multilevel governance system and beyond

Conflict and Change in EU Budgetary Politics Johannes Lindner, 2005-12-22 Why did the European Union experience a stark variation in the levels of conflict between the late 1970s when budgetary disputes dominated European politics and the 1990s when political actors were able to settle upon budgetary agreements without major conflicts This book responds to this key question with a two step argument Its first part shows that decision making rules can be regarded as a key determinant of the level of conflict in EU budgetary politics It details far reaching reform in 1988 reduced conflict because it introduced an institutional setting for multiannual budget planning that corrected the deficiencies of the original budget treaty Having identified institutional change as the trigger for the reduction of conflict the second part of this study focuses on the 1988 reform It shows how a number of reproduction mechanisms prevented major institutional change in the 1970s and early 1980s When these reproduction mechanisms lost force a reform became possible and a new institutional setting emerged in 1988 These findings deliver a sharp insight into the interplay between rules and conflict in the still evolving political system of the EU Moreover by identifying precise conditions for the occurrence of institutional change and by linking political performance of institutions to their stability this is a significant contribution to institutionalist research in social science This book is an excellent resource for students and scholars of the European Union Political Science International Relations Public Policy and Public Finance
