

A photograph of a lighthouse on a pier. The lighthouse is a small, red, square structure with a white lantern room on top. It is situated on a wooden pier that extends into the water. The water is dark and turbulent, with white foam from waves crashing against the base of the pier. In the foreground, a large, red, cylindrical structure, likely part of the lighthouse's base or a nearby tower, is visible on the right side. The sky is overcast and grey.
