From These Green Heights:

From These Green Heights Dermot Bolger, 2005 From These Green Heights is a journey through the lives of two Dublin families. Spanning four decades the action moves from the 1960s when Dessie first glimpses the landmark Ballymun Towers to the night in 2004 when his young daughter packs up to leave the flat that has been their home. From These Green Heights is a hidden history of modern Dublin exploring the relationship between a stigmatized suburb and the inhabitants who fought to reshape it and call it home. BOOK JACKET

Irish Contemporary Landscapes in Literature and the Arts M. Mianowski, 2011-12-06 Looking at representations of the Irish landscape in contemporary literature and the arts this volume discusses the economic, political and environmental issues associated with it, questioning the myths behind Ireland's landscape from the first Greek descriptions to present day post-Celtic Tiger architecture. Literary visions of multicultural Ireland Pilar Villar-Argaiz, 2016-05-16 Now available in paperback this pioneering collection of essays deals with the topic of how Irish literature responds to the presence of non-Irish immigrants in Celtic Tiger and post-Celtic Tiger Ireland. The book assembles an international group of 18 leading and prestigious academics in the field of Irish studies from both sides of the Atlantic including Declan Kiberd, Anne Fogarty and Maureen T. Reddy amongst others. Key areas of discussion are what does it mean to be multicultural and what are the implications of this condition for contemporary Irish writers. How has literature in Ireland responded to inward migration? Have Irish writers reflected in their work either explicitly or implicitly the existence of migrant communities in Ireland? If so, are elements of Irish traditional culture and community maintained or transformed? What is the social and political efficacy of these intercultural artistic visions. Belgravia, 1879 EU enlargement, the clash of capitalisms and the European social dimension Paul Copeland, 2015-11-01 At the heart of the European integration process is the political economy debate over whether the EU should be a market-making project or if it should combine this with integration in employment and social policy. What has been the impact of the 2004 and 2007 rounds of enlargement upon the political economy of European integration? EU enlargement, the clash of capitalisms and the European social dimension analyses the impact of the 2004 and 2007 enlargements upon the politics of European integration within EU employment and social policy. This book analyses the main policy negotiations in the field and analyses the political positions and contributions of the Central and Eastern European Member States. Through analyses of the negotiations of the Services Directive, the revision of the Working Time Directive and the Europe 2020 poverty target, the book argues that the addition of the Central and Eastern European states has strengthened liberal forces at the EU level and undermined integration with EU employment and social policy. Mapping Irish Theatre Chris Morash, Shaun Richards, 2013-12-12 Seamus Heaney once described the sense of place generated by the early Abbey theatre as the imaginative protein of later Irish writing. Drawing on theorists of space such as Henri Lefebvre and Yi Fu Tuan, Mapping Irish Theatre argues that theatre is a machine for making place from space. Concentrating on Irish theatre, the book investigates how this Irish sense of place was both produced by and produced the remarkable work of the Irish Revival before considering what happens when this spatial formation begins to fade Exploring more recent site specific and place specific theatre alongside canonical works of Irish theatre by playwrights including J M Synge Samuel Beckett and Brian Friel the study proposes an original theory of theatrical space and theatrical identification whose application extends beyond Irish theatre and will be useful for all theatre scholars
