T. Kelson,2024-03-14 Few things feel better than early love We feel like we are flying At that time Nature adds its endorsement and accelerant to make sure survival concerns do not preempt going through the actions that have a high likelihood of making children This force the Medulla Obligation is a compilation of hormones and romantic notions meant to enslave us to love s duties However some of love s duties are aggressive territorial and vicious and those are exaggerated too We have all been buried under its suffocating power many times in our lives The introductory offer ends Things were so promising now confusion reigns What do we have in front of us What just happened Who was that For any particular thing ask What is it in itself What is its nature Marcus Aurelius Once the nature of this force and its goals and methods are presented sequenced and better understood we can prepare This book is about the aftershocks sent out by the exaggerating forces of courtship as enforced by the Medulla Obligation our core purpose and their departure Through awareness we can still fly in the euphoria of new love and escape the worst crashes of love when the flight loses momentum How Children Learn from Parents and Parenting Others in Formal and Informal Settings: International and Cultural Perspectives, volume II Yvette Renee Harris ,Claudio Longobardi,2025-12-01 This Research Topic is the second volume of the Research Topic How Children Learn from Parents and Parenting Others in Formal and Informal Settings International and Cultural Perspectives Please see the first volume here For several decades parent child cognitive interaction researchers have acknowledged that children learn cognitive skills in the context of their social and early environments These cognitive skills are often imparted to the children by parents or parenting others in formal or informal settings Thus for example such informal settings as dinner table conversations walks through grocery stores museums or neighborhoods become rich laboratories for children to learn varied cognitive skills ranging from numeracy concepts and language The way in which those learning opportunities are provided by parents structured by parents and scaffolded by parents may well vary depending on culture and other socio demographic variables and may well vary depending on formal or informal settings The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together scholarship from both global north and global south contexts which explores how children learn via parental involvement in formal and informal settings To this end we are soliciting manuscripts from researchers which focus on examining the strategies that parents use as they engage their children in learning interactions address how they scaffold those interactions and consider how children participate in those interaction and move beyond laboratory observations to more naturalistic contexts for children learning through parent interaction Please note contributions can be of many different article types including Original Research Methods Opinion Hypothesis Theory etc

Molecular Ecology And Evolution: The Organismal Side: Selected Writings From The Avise Laboratory John C Avise,2010-08-18 This volume is a reprinted collection of 69 classics from the Avise laboratory chosen to illustrate a trademark brand of research that harnesses molecular markers to scientific studies of natural history and evolution in the wild Spanning the early 1970s through the late 2000s these articles trace how the author and his colleagues have used molecular genetics techniques to address multifarious conceptual topics in genetics ecology and evolution in a fascinating menagerie of creatures with oft peculiar lifestyles The organisms described in this volume range from blind cavefish to male pregnant pipefishes and sea spiders from clonal armadillos to natal homing marine turtles from hermaphroditic sea snails to hybridizing monkeys and tree frogs from clonal marine sponges to pseudohermaphroditic mollusks to introgressing oysters and from endangered pocket gophers terrapins and sparrows to unisexual all female fish species to living fossil horseshoe crabs and even to a strange little fish that routinely mates with itself The conceptual and molecular topics addressed in this volume are also universal ranging from punctuated equilibrium to coalescent theory to the need for greater standardization in taxonomy from cytonuclear disequilibrium statistics to the ideas of speciation duration and sympatric speciation from historical population demography to phylogenetic reconstructions of males sexual ornaments from the population genetic consequences of inbreeding to Pleistocene effects on phylogeography and from the molecular underpinnings of null alleles to the notion of clustered mutations that arise in groups to compelling empirical evidence for the unanticipated processes of gene conversion and concerted evolution in animal mitochondrial DNA Overall this collection includes many of the best most influential sometimes controversial occasionally provocative always intriguing or otherwise entertaining publications to have emerged from the Avise laboratory over the last four decades Thus this book conveys through the eyes of one of the field s longstanding pioneers what the organismal side of molecular ecology and evolution really means Interpersonal Cognition Mark W. Baldwin, 2006-04-20 Presenting state of the art research from leading investigators this volume examines the processes by which people understand their interpersonal experiences Provided are fresh perspectives on how individuals glean social knowledge from past relationships and apply it in the here and now Also explored are the effects of biases and expectancies about significant others on relationship satisfaction and personal well being Broad in scope the book integrates findings from experimental social psychology with insights from developmental personality and clinical psychology Throughout chapters strike an appropriate balance between theory and method offering an understanding of the core issues involved as well as the tools needed to study them Gunnar Myrdal and His Works Gilles Dostaler, Diane Ethier, Laurent Lepage, 1992 The readers of Gunnar Myrdal and His Works are getting two books in one Part I deals with the biography of our subject and his contribution to social democracy the Swedish model the famous or notorious third way to amelioration of the race problem in the USA and to development in Southeast Asia and the world over Part II illuminates Myrdal the economic theorist his transit to institutionalism and his enduring concern for the methods of social science but there is biography and charming anecdote in both Above all Gunnar Myrdal s life and work represents a human and humane reaction to the austerity of unmitigated market forces in areas where they do not belong and are inherently ineffective Born in 1898 his own experience in an impoverished Sweden and depressed America lent validity to his conclusion A social order that cannot afford to give children enough food sanitary and spacious accommodation satisfactory health care and education and at the same time lacks employment for a great part of its labour force that social order is unreasonable and immoral and is already condemned by its own admission Myrdal was acutely aware that the advanced democratic welfare state has its perils the dulling of civic alertness arising from the very success of State intervention and inflation but there is no help for that as he saw it but more democracy more education more participation and more equality as measures to overcome them Francine Lalonde Abbott's Cyclopedic Digest Austin Abbott,1902 Third Decennial Edition of the American Digest ,1928
