Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and inventing things. Often "solved" with a local "fix" such as water recycling or waste management using natural or man-made resources. However, important to be clear that "solved" does not mean the problem has been completely eliminated. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective resolution.

Designing solutions becomes considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members have a part in a solution being found. Challenges, setbacks, and the inability to weigh their trade-offs carefully. For example, creating resources for a water filter may affect its cost and ease of use, which influenced the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, documenting how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that have already been and possibly involve on the way. Communication, using digital media, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. This process can help identify future needs, locally encourage responsible decision-making, and build community trust.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a local problem?
- a. Designing a solution
  - b. Spreading the most expensive materials
  - c. Spreading safety concerns
  - d. Understanding the problem fully
2. What does documenting constraints in a solution help with?
- a. Finding the constraints of the solution
  - b. Evaluating the solution's cost and safety
  - c. Showing how to avoid constraints
  - d. Determining what the solution has resolved
3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
- a. Finding a solution with no constraints
  - b. Spending money on one part of the solution
  - c. Using unsafe materials
  - d. Using unlimited resources
4. Why is communication important?
- a. To avoid not being in agreement
  - b. To make ideas clearer
  - c. To finish the problem by comparing
  - d. To avoid discussing the work

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is always better than the first one.
