Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and creating things that "solve" real-world issues such as water quality or waste management using science. Ideas or proposed solutions can have a positive impact, understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions begins by considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Constraints represent some part of a problem that is challenging, limiting, and/or important to weigh when making a decision. For example, creating a solution for a water filter that is cost-effective and easy to use, cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that have already been or should be made on the idea. Communication, using simple words, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of sharing findings helps locally encourages responsible decision-making and helps communities thrive.

- a. Finding a solution with no tools
  - b. Working without any tools
  - c. The time it takes to finish the project
  - d. Using unlimited materials
4. Why is communication important?

  - d. To avoid discussing the work
