The French Language in the Seventeenth Century Peter Rickard, 1992 The sixty French texts edited here are all direct commentaries by contemporary authors on the French language in the 17th century By this time French had begun to assert its independence in its written and printed form it was being used for a wide variety of literary technical and administrative purposes Its practitioners not only successfully challenged the hitherto dominant position of Latin but also began for the first time to discuss and analyse for its own sake the language which was now their preferred medium for expression hence in the first half of the seventeenth century a growing number of publications on the nature and characteristics of French The texts demonstrate the sustained critical preoccupation with the welfare of the French language in the 17th century and illustrate the various ways in which the writers of the age contributed to its development as an instrument of literary expression and social intercourse

Arabic Dialectology Enam Al-Wer, Rudolf de Jong, 2009-06-24 Much of the insight in the field of Arabic linguistics has for a long time remained unknown to linguists outside the field Regrettably Arabic data rarely feature in the formulation of theories and analytical tools in modern linguistics This situation is unfavourable to both sides The Arabist once an outrider has almost become a non member of the mainstream linguistics community Consequently linguistics itself has been deprived of a wealth of data from one of the world's major languages However it is reassuring to witness advances being made to integrate into mainstream linguistics the visions and debates of specialists in Arabic Building on this fruitful endeavour this book presents thought provoking new articles especially written for this collection by leading scholars from both sides The authors discuss topics in historical social and spatial dialectology focusing on Arabic data investigated within modern analytical frameworks
