Foundations Of Programming Apic Studies In Data Processing No 23:

Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R. Bowker Company,1982 Foundations of Programming Jacques Arsac,1985 This book will prove useful interesting and provoking not only to all practising and aspiring programmers but to those with an interest in programming techniques and methodology Recurrence recursion and reiteration are the key words The author studies the relationship between these three basic tools and shows how to use them to construct clear correct and efficient programs He takes as his starting point the premise that to construct a program to solve a problem efficiently one must first correctly formulate the problem In illustrating the mechanism for the creation of programs by computation that is analytical programming the author argues that the programmer can learn to write correct programs easily verified and understandable without wasting effort and expense in lengthy testing and correction and without the need for deep creative or intuitive skills

Basic Simple Type Theory J. Roger Hindley,1997 Type theory is one of the most important tools in the design of higher level programming languages such as ML This book introduces and teaches its techniques by focusing on one particularly neat system and studying it in detail By concentrating on the principles that make the theory work in practice the author covers all the key ideas without getting involved in the complications of more advanced systems This book takes a type assignment approach to type theory and the system considered is the simplest polymorphic one The author covers all the basic ideas including the system s relation to propositional logic and gives a careful treatment of the type checking algorithm that lies at the heart of every such system Also featured are two other interesting algorithms that until now have been buried in inaccessible technical literature The mathematical presentation is rigorous but clear making it the first book at this level that can be used as an introduction to type theory for computer scientists Programming Concepts, Methods and Calculi E.-R. Olderog,1994 Programming Languages: History and Fundamentals Jean E. Sammet,1969 The primary purpose of this book is to serve as a reference for an overall view of higher level languages The book brings together in one place and in a consistent fashion fundamental information on programming languages including history general characteristics similarities and differences A second purpose of the book is to provide specific basic information on all the significant and most of the minor higher level languages developed in the United States The third purpose of the book is to provide history and perspective for this particular aspect of the programming field Preface Books in Series ,1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles American Book Publishing Record ,1985 Readings in Object-Oriented Database Systems Stanley B. Zdonik,David Maier,1990 This comprehensive collection is a survey of research in object oriented databases offering a substantive overview of the field section introductions and over 40 research papers presented in their original scope and detail The balanced selection of articles presents a confluence of ideas from both the language and database research communities that have contributed to the object oriented paradigm The editors develop a general definition and model for object oriented databases and relate significant research efforts to this framework Further the collection explores the fundamental notions behind object oriented databases semantic data models implementation of object oriented systems transaction processing interfaces and related approaches Research and theory are balanced by applications to CAD systems programming environments and office information systems   Software Engineering and Formal Methods Dimitra Giannakopoulou,Gwen Salaün,2014-08-04 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 12th International Conference on Software Engineering and Formal Methods SEFM 2014 held in Grenoble France in September 2014 The 23 full papers presented together with 3 invited and 6 tool papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 106 submissions They are organized in topical section on program verification testing component based systems real time and embedded systems model checking and automata learning program correctness and adaptive and multi agent systems   Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997   The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1991   Proceedings of the ...
