Guide To Questioning A Classroom Procedures For Teachers:

A Guide to Questioning Craig Kissock, Peter T. Iyortsuun, 1982 An Investigation of Teachers' Questions and Tasks to Develop Reading Comprehension Ghazali Mustapha, 2020-02-03 Teachers are constantly seeking ways to improve their teaching and thereby enhance the learning of their students One method of doing this is to bring critical and creative thinking skills to the forefront of the curriculum This has been emphasized by the Malaysian Ministry of Education via the KBSM syllabus in order to teach critical and creative thinking by considering the use of programs like Bloom s taxonomy of educational objectives in classroom practice This study demonstrates how the higher order skills can be integrated into the secondary school reading curriculum The main aim of the study is to investigate how teachers design reading comprehension questions RCQs and reading comprehension tasks RCTs in relation to the demands of higher order thinking to produce students with critical minds It focuses primarily on the use of COGAFF taxonomy a cognitive affective taxonomy adapted from Bloom s and Krathwohl s to formulate higher order reading questions and tasks as a means to develop critical and creative thinking skills In a pilot study in Britain with forty Malaysian teachers and in the main field study in Malaysia 150 subjects teachers and student teachers have yielded about one thousand RCQs and one thousand RCTs In line with many research findings of question and task design 91 2% of the RCQs and 83 6% of RCTs produced during the pretest were of low order types Subjects attended a workshop emphasizing question and task designing using the COGAFF taxonomy Dramatically during the posttest 74 4% of the RCQs and 80 6% of the RCTs were transformed into higher order inferential forms The other major thrust of the study is to demonstrate how higher order questions can be used to design equally higher order tasks that can be utilized as a thinking skills approach in the teaching of reading comprehension lessons in secondary schools Thinking tools and strategies as suggested by Beyer Guilford Gardner and several others and their implications for the teaching of reading comprehension and training of teachers in Malaysia are also discussed

Conducting Educational Research R. Murray Thomas, 1998-09-30 Emphasizing the comparative aspects of research this introduction to educational research traces the process through five stages choosing what to study including specifying the research problem collecting information organizing and summarizing information interpreting results and reporting the outcomes Each of the stages offers diverse options available to researchers for solving the problems of that stage and a research project checklist at the end of each chapter guides readers in applying the chapter s contents to their own research studies In much educational discourse comparative education has referred solely to the study of educational similarities and differences between regions of the world or between two or more nations This book uses the broader definition of the term to encompass a large body of research including studies focusing on comparisons between local educational systems schools classrooms language groups religious denominations genders social classes and individual students Students who are planning research projects as well as staff members of such organizations as ministries of education school systems bureaus of educational research and
