Abstract

Explicit Exact and Approximate Inverse Preconditioners for solving complex linear systems are introduced. A class of general iterative methods of second order is presented and the selection of iterative parameters is discussed. The second order iterative methods behave quite similar to first order methods and the development of efficient preconditioners for solving the original linear system is a decisive factor for making the second order iterative methods superior to the first order iterative methods. Adaptive preconditioned Conjugate Gradient methods using explicit approximate preconditioners for solving efficiently large sparse systems of algebraic equations are also presented. The generalized Approximate Inverse Matrix techniques can be efficiently used in conjunction with explicit iterative schemes leading to effective composite semi-direct solution methods for solving large linear systems of algebraic equations.

1. Introduction

During the last decades, considerable research effort has been directed to the solution of complex linear and nonlinear systems of algebraic equation by using a class of iterative methods. This class includes the conjugate gradient method and its hybrid multi-variants. The conjugate gradient method originally introduced by Hestenes and Stiefel [1], was a direct solution method but later on has been extensively used as an iterative method for solving efficiently large sparse linear
