Congress Shall Make No Law David M. O'Brien,2010-09-16 The First Amendment declares that Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press Yet in the following two hundred years Congress and the states have sought repeatedly to curb these freedoms The Supreme Court of the United States in turn gradually expanded First Amendment protection for freedom of expression but also defined certain categories of expression obscenity defamation commercial speech and fighting words or disruptive expression as constitutionally unprotected From the Alien and Sedition Act of 1798 to the most recent cases to come before the Supreme Court noted legal scholar David M O'Brien provides the first comprehensive examination of these exceptions to the absolute command of the First Amendment providing a history of each category of unprotected speech and putting into bold relief the larger questions of what kinds of expression should and should not receive First Amendment protection O'Brien provides readers interested in civil liberties constitutional history and law and the U S Supreme Court a treasure trove of information and ideas about how to think about the First Amendment

Rediscovering a Lost Freedom Patrick Garry,2017-07-12 Since ratification of the First Amendment in the late eighteenth century there has been a sea change in American life When the amendment was ratified individuals were almost completely free of unwanted speech but today they are besieged by it Indeed the First Amendment has for all practical purposes been commandeered by the media to justify intrusions of offensive speech into private life In its application the First Amendment has become one sided Even though America is virtually drowning in speech the First Amendment only applies to the speaker s delivery of speech Left out of consideration is the one participant in the communications process who is the most vulnerable and least protected the helpless recipient of offensive speech In Rediscovering a Lost Freedom Patrick Garry addresses what he sees as the most pressing speech problem of the twenty first century an often irresponsible media using the First Amendment as a shield behind which to hide its socially corrosive speech To Garry the First Amendment should protect the communicative process as a whole And for this process to be free and open listeners should have as much right to be free from unwanted speech as speakers do of not being thrown in jail for uttering unpopular ideas Rediscovering a Lost Freedom seeks to modernize the First Amendment With other constitutional rights changed circumstances have prompted changes in the law Restrictions on political advertising seek to combat the
